Pennsylvania's Economy since 2001

- Brief, shallow recession March 2001 to November 2001
- Great recession hit PA in 2008-2009 – private jobs plummeted by 4%, with recovery of 1% or more in 10-11, 11-12, and 13-14. It is defined nationally as starting in December 2007 and lasting until June 2009.
- From 2008-2014, net employment in the private sector increased by only .5%
Among our 19 major industries, 10 added jobs and 9 lost jobs
- From 2007 to 2017, rural PA lost more than 96,000 jobs, while urban PA gained about 145,000 jobs. Across the country, rural jobs decreased by 2 percent while urban jobs increased by 8 percent
- Unemployment peaked in 2010, one year after the great national recession ended. We are just now getting to the point where unemployment is returning to pre-great recession levels in PA
- After adjusting for inflation, average weekly wages increased 8 percent from 2007 to 2017. In urban areas of PA, they increased only 3 percent.
